FESTIVAL >>

'The School', by Joey Herold (Comedy) Inspired by The Office set in a high school environment. The film kicks off the festival by capturing the daily chaos and comedic moments between students and teachers, all in a mockumentary style. What starts as a few harmless pranks by a student quickly escalates into an all-out prank war between the students and staff.

In the comedy-action short film 'Massive Cheez-its' by Dylan Nash, a main boss hires a cat as a henchman to steal a giant bag of Cheez-its, leading to a full-scale battle between the boss and another character.

'Hands' is an artistic short film by Emily Prazma that serves as a heartfelt tribute to a family member, honoring their dedication and care as a parent. The film highlights the profound impact and love they have shown through their hands in caring for their child.

'Sherlock at Holmes' is a comedy-mystery short film by Matthew Tanska-Heesch where the iconic detective finds himself in a rather unconventional setting. As a murder mystery unfolds, Sherlock must unravel the mystery and identify the culprit, all while navigating a series of humorous and unexpected twists.

'The Thirst' is a psychological horror short film by Sydney Briggs told from a first-person perspective. The story follows a restless character who, in search of water to ease their discomfort and find some sleep, encounters something truly terrifying along the way."

'Filming Failure' is a comedy short film by Brennen Friebel that follows a character rushing to finish their film project. As they try to meet the deadline, they face a series of funny and unexpected obstacles while attempting to make a magnum opus of short film."

'A Rumor's Weapon' is an artistic short film by Ellybeth Henderson that explores the damaging effects rumors can have on people. The film highlights how quickly a rumor can spread and the lasting impact it can leave on individuals' lives.

'The Bridge' is a mystery short film by GaoChii Vang that follows a character investigating an enigmatic portal, known as The Bridge, whose origins and true purpose remain shrouded in secrecy. On the other side, they discover a completely different world filled with unique items that seem oddly familiar to the character.

'Extrapolating Information from a Fool' is a comedy short film by Lyric Alton where an investigator faces a frustrating challenge as they try to extract information from an unpredictable fool. The character's random and chaotic behavior makes the investigation nearly impossible, but the film follows the investigator through their trials and tribulations as they work to uncover the truth.

'Five Nights at Brennan's' is a horror-comedy by Francis Gonder portraying a parody of Five Nights at Freddy's. The main character is assigned to stay in a mysterious building overnight, where they uncover creepy and bizarre happenings, all while trying to maintain a humorous tone. The film keeps you on edge as you watch whether or not they'll make it out in one piece.

'Friendship' is an artistic short film by Kaili Kitzan told through visuals and poetry, exploring the depth and significance of friendship. It highlights the different dimensions of friendship and the powerful impact it has on people's lives, serving as a heartfelt dedication to this essential bond.

'The Funny' is an action-comedy class film written, directed, shot and Edited by the students and their teacher, Mr. Janikowski. The story begins with a problem: the teacher is frustrated that students aren't watching the school news. After a student convinces him to turn up the 'funny dial' on the 'funny box,' the news takes a hilarious turn, and the teacher soon finds himself navigating the chaos that follows.
