N.D. Legislative Report

By Representative Don Vigesaa

The 69th Legislative Assembly began its session on January 7th, 2025, and a much larger number of bills and resolutions were introduced in both the House and the Senate than last session. In the House, 658 bills and resolutions were introduced, compared to 574 in 2023. In the Senate, their increase wasn't as large, with 430 bills and resolutions introduced, compared to 412 in 2023. At crossover at the end of February, the House had passed 436 bills and resolutions, and the Senate had passed 313 bills and resolutions. As of March 21st, the House has 162 bills and resolutions remaining to act on and the Senate has 236 bills and resolutions remaining to act on. The goal of leadership is to complete our work by April 30, which would be Legislative Day 73 of the 80 we are allowed by the state constitution.
Your District 29 legislators are in the same roles as last session. I continue to be the Chairman of the House Appropriations Committee; Rep. Craig Headland is once again the Chairman of the House Finance and Tax Committee and Sen. Terry Wanzek

1, 2025. Looking forward, because the Ag and Energy sectors are not expected to generate the same levels of general tax revenues as they did in the current biennium, the forecast expects about $75 million less in general fund revenues in the next biennium. The North Dakota economy is still robust and growing but not quite at the same level as it did in the past two years. The forecast for oil tax revenues shows a much larger adjustment from current levels. The forecasted North Dakota oil price is projected to be $59 per barrel during the first year of the biennium and $57 per barrel for the second year of the biennium. Production is estimated to remain steady at 1.1 million barrels of oil per day. This will result in approximately $1.4 billion less oil tax revenue being deposited in the Strategic Investment and Improvement Fund that can be allocated during the 2027 legislative session.

The major topic during this session is property tax relief and reform. There are still three bills in discussion in the Senate. The House passed all three before crossover. HB1176, Governor Armstrong's proposal, would provide a $1450 primary residence tax credit using Legacy Fund earnings. It also caps local political subdivisions' levy increases at 3% per year. His plan is to have legacy fund earnings, which continue to grow, provide a larger credit each biennium, eventually paying most of the property tax for primary residence owners. HB1575 also caps political subdivision levy increases but simply provides a percentage decrease in property taxes for all types of property, including agricultural land. HB1168 lowers the school mills collected from property owners from 60 mills to 50 mills and has a cap on political subdivisions levy increases. This issue will be decided in the next few weeks and the final legislation may be a combination of proposals on the table.

Please contact any of us if you would like more specific information on any of the issues we are discussing in Bismarck: Rep. Don Vigesaa, dvvigesaa@ndlegis.gov; Rep. Craig Headland, cheadland@ndlegis.gov; Sen. Terry Wanzek, tmwanzek@ndlegis.gov.
