

Editor's Note

What a busy weekend! Graduation and the parties were so much fun. It's always my favorite part to see all of the picture boards and see the kids when they were little. It's funny how when you are raising them there are times when it feels like time is going so slowly. The day in and day out can be exhausting as a parent. Then all of a sudden, those days draw to a close and the kids are leaving and off to their next chapter and you can't help but ask yourself, "where did the time go?" I hope all the kids of class of 2025 find the things that make them happy and fulfilled in their lives. Congratulations to all the grads. This week Mike and I head to Bismarck for a few days for his surgery. I always feel so nervous about these things and he always stays so calm and spends way to much time making me feel better. Poor guy. It can't be easy being married to an anxiety ridden, nervous nelly like me. I'm glad he can deal with me. Nancy will be holding down the fort at the paper and we know everything is in good hands with her here. So feel free to stop in, call us with your news and let us know what you would like to see, or not see, in the paper. Have a great week!
