ADAMS COUNTY SERVING THE REGION SINCE 1907 RECORD

Sophia Vannett has joined North Dakota State University Extension as the parent educator for Region 8, serving Adams, Billings, Bowman, Dunn, Golden Valley, Hettinger, Slope and Stark counties.

In this role, Vannett will coordinate and teach evidence-based parent education programs to teachers, parents, primary care providers and childcare professionals, both virtually and in person. She will assess community needs and collaborate with Dickinson Public Schools and the West Dakota Parent and Family Resource Center to offer parenting programs across the region.

“I look forward to developing professional and collaborative relationships within the communities I serve,” says Vannett. “Additionally, I hope to learn how I can best serve these communities as I take on this new role of parent educator.”

Originally from Cologne, Minnesota, Vannett graduated from the University of Mary with a bachelor's degree in child development studies and a minor in Spanish.

Prior to coming to

Extension, she worked as an administrative assistant in the Liffrig Family School of Educational and Behavioral Sciences and gained hands-on experience as a childcare teacher working with children from birth to age seven.

“Sophia cares deeply about building stronger communities. She brings strong interpersonal and communication skills to the position, along with education and expertise in child development, a passion for helping others and a willingness to meet people at their level,” says Jim Gray, NDSU Extension’s West District Director. “I am excited to have Sophia join NDSU Extension and the West District.”

Outside of work, she enjoys country music, coffee and learning about brain science and child development.
